BLOODY BATTLE

THE United States' army, commanded by Major General JACKSON, the command of Major General RIAL; "the action commenced without intermission till midnight." The enemy was driven, artillery taken by the Americans; Gen. RIAL, 20 officers, Generals Brown and Scott severely wounded, the brave severe engagement was very great. The U. S. troops, hours after the action, and then fell back upon Fort arms of the UNITED STATES, to effect.

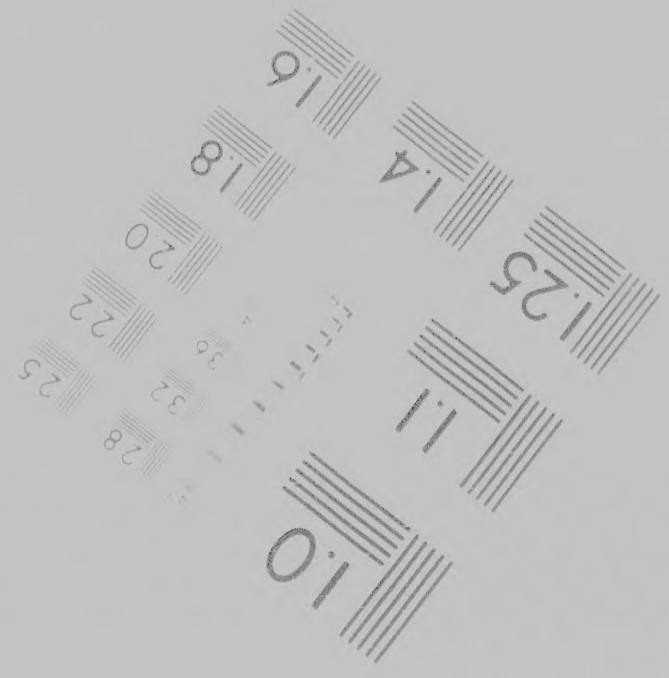

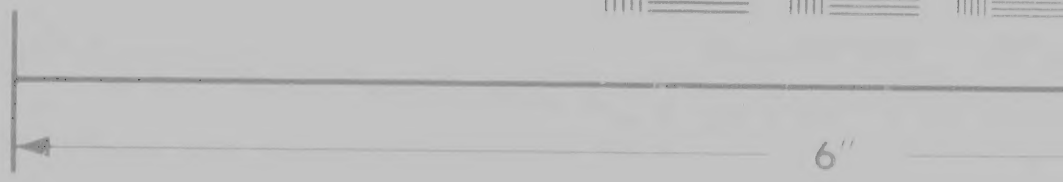

THE BRITISH, in Canada, proudly display
 Their forces, collecting in battle array;
 But when to derange or to strike the Guelphs down,
 We wish, or determine,....Scott, Perry and Brown....
 Will prove themselves valiant, and worthy, and free,
 In battles on shore, boys, and battles at sea.
 So Hull, Boscawen---Burrows, Lawrence and Pike,
 On the minds of their chieftains such terror would strike,
 As to throw them amaz'd and astonish'd aghast,
 With muscles close strain'd....as a shoe to a mast.
 They prov'd themselves valiant, and worthy and free,
 In battles on shore, boys, and battles at sea.
 So Bainbridge and Porter, Decatur and Jones,
 And all the brave heroes, America owns,
 Rodgers, Harrison, Warrington, each glorious name,
 In battle and in death, each distinguished in fame.

BATTLE NEAR NIAGARA.

General JACOB BROWN, victorious over the British Forces, under the action commenced on the 25th July, at 5 o'clock P. M. and continued until the enemy was driven at every position; his battery stormed, and all his artillery, 29 officers of rank, and near 300 privates were made prisoners. He killed the brave Capt. Spencer mortally. The loss on both sides in this battle was heavy. The U. S. troops, under Gen. Ripley, maintained their position several days upon Fort Erie as a measure of precaution. Success attend the efforts of the UNITED STATES, to effect an honorable and lasting PEACE.

So prove yourselves valiant, and worthy, and free,
 In battles on shore, boys, and battles at sea.
 Soon the heroic BROWN meets the Canada troops
 Unmov'd by their threats, or their shouts or yell-hoops
 He offers them battle, on terms to contend,
 He fights like a Soldier, but treats like a Friend.
 So fight, ye brave boys, as you're valiant and free,
 In battles on shore, boys, and battles at sea.
 He captures their garrison; moves on in arms,
 And triumphs as victor, amid their alarms;
 He engages, again and again, on the field;
 Compelling the vanquished Britons to yield.
 Thus prove yourselves valiant, and worthy and free,
 In battles on shore, boys, and battles at sea.
 On the evening of July, the twenty-fifth day,
 When the British were driven from the field,

In our annals enroll'd and distinguish'd in name ;

*All prove themselves valiant, and worthy and free,
In battles on shore, boys, and battles at sea.*

JOHN BULL once believ'd, in the mischance of War,
When Coercion was substitute, render'd for Law ;
Declar'd as our Rights ;--and enforc'd from the Throne,
For all which, their nation's best blood did atone.

*We prov'd ourselves valiant, and worthy and free,
In battles on shore, boys, and battles at sea.*

But now BULL y JOHN, in his dotage and dreams,
Believes us a National people, it seems ;
But ranging as Arbiter round the wide world,
He would have us conform, or to ruin be hurl'd.

*We will prove to JOHN BULL, we are valiant and free,
In battles on shore, boys, and battles at sea.*

So it seems "giant" JOHN---with his ships and his arms,
Intends, for us Yankees, a great many harms ;
But the prodigal now, with his fortune all made,
Is out-law'd in Honor, and bankrupt in Trade.

*While the Yankees are valiant, and worthy and free,
In battles on shore, boys, and battles at sea.*

The British, in triumph, establish their Stakes,
Along the Atlantic, and round the great Lakes ;
But away from their posts, they are sure to retreat,
When with equal force match'd ; 'tis their death and defeat.

*We prove ourselves valiant, and worthy and free,
In battles on shore, boys, and battles at sea.*

Lord Wellington's armies, the Indians and all,
Nor Frauds, nor Blockades shall our FREEDOM enthrall,
Our RIGHTS, as our life-blood, are equally dear,
And as true to our Nation...we're Brave without Fear.

*We prove ourselves valiant, and worthy and free,
In battles on shore, boys, and battles at sea.*

How many brave heroes, at Chippewa fell ;
Of their actions hereafter shall history tell ;
Embalm'd in our hearts, shall their memories be,
While our hearts uncorrupted shall love LIBERTY.

*For they prov'd themselves valiant, and worthy and free,
In battles on shore, boys, and battles at sea.*

Brave SCOTT, is a Hero, the Soldier, the Man,
He leads as the chief, and directs in the van ;
To glory he leads,--mid war's clangor and blaze,
He's the Pieter enlaurell'd,--deserving our praise.

Where the moon beams reflect, in Niagara's spray ;
Where the noise of the cataract echoes around,
There Roll and Brown, and their Troops take their ground—
The Yankees are conquerors—valiant and free,
In battles on land, boys, and battles at sea.

Dislodg'd from their strong holds, at ev'ry place,
They fall or surrender, or run with disgrace ;
They attack, they retreat ;---they pant for relief ;
All is lost !---their best troops---and their ambitious Chieftains—
The Yankees are victors...they're valiant and free,
In battles on land boys, and battles at sea.

Seven hours rag'd the battle !---then in silence profound,
The victims and wounded, bestrewing the ground,
Exhibit a scene, which all hearts must deplore,
'Tis the fate of all WARS !---but the Battle is o'er !
We prove ourselves valiant, and worthy and free,
In battles on shore, boys, and battles at sea.

Our Heroes, and chiefs, in the Battle, survive ;
Many fall !---and O ! could brave SPENCER but live !
But in glory, he dies, with his compeers in arms ;
May regret and respect fill the heart as it warms.
Let us prove ourselves valiant, and worthy and free,
In battles on shore, boys, and battles at sea.

The British are vanquish'd again and again,
On the Lakes, in the field, on each mound, and each plain,
Their DAY-STAR'S bright lustre bedim'd disappears ;
While our glory increases, with th' increase of years.
We prove ourselves valiant, and worthy and free,
In battles on land, boys, and battles at sea.

Drop a tear o'er the scene ; like Leonidas' band,
Our youth fight and die, at their country's command
As "sacred to mem'ry"---triumphantly raise,
Where they fall....monumental inscriptions of Praise.
They prove themselves valiant, and worthy and free,
In battles on land, boys, and battles at sea.

Be the chief Gen. BROWN, and the brave Gen. SCOTT,
By the Sons of Columbia never forgot ;
May our hearts all unite, in America's cause,
In defence of our Honor, Rights, Freedom and Law.
This prove ourselves valiant, and worthy and free.
In battles on shore, boys, and battles at sea.
